If the organism spreads to the middle ear, inner ear or brain, it can cause a head tilt, walking difficulty and other signs of dizziness.